1. Money 20/20 Europe

June 3-5, 2025 | Amsterdam, Netherlands

RAI Amsterdam Convention Centre

Main Language: English | Expected Attendees: 5,000

Europe's premier fintech event brings together 5,000+ attendees from banks, fintechs, and payment companies. This is where the European fintech ecosystem converges for three days of networking and deal-making.

Why You Should Attend This Conference

Money 20/20 Europe is where Add to Calendar European banking executives make their annual strategic decisions. The event attracts decision-makers with actual budget authority, not just researchers. The Amsterdam location creates a relaxed networking environment that facilitates genuine business conversations, and the concentrated format means you'll meet more qualified contacts in three days than most events deliver in a full week.

2. PAYTECHSHOW 6.0

April 15, 2025 | Budapest, Hungary

Budapest Congress Center

Main Language: English | Expected Attendees: 800

Central Europe's leading payment technology conference focusing on practical solutions and regional market insights. Known for its intimate setting and high-quality networking opportunities.

Why You Should Attend This Conference

PAYTECHSHOW offers unmatched access to Central and Eastern European payment executives who control rapidly growing markets. Unlike massive conferences where you compete for attention, this intimate format ensures quality conversations with regional decision-makers. The focus on practical implementation rather than theoretical concepts means you'll leave with actionable intelligence about market entry strategies and partnership opportunities in Europe's fastest-growing fintech regions.

3. EBAday

May 27-28, 2025 | Paris, France

Le Carrousel du Louvre

Main Language: English | Expected Attendees: 1,200

The Euro Banking Association's flagship event brings together the European payments community to discuss infrastructure, regulation, and the future of digital payments in Europe.

Why You Should Attend This Conference

EBAday provides direct access to the architects of European payment infrastructure. Central bank officials, payment scheme executives, and regulatory leaders gather here to shape policy that affects the entire European market. If your business depends on understanding regulatory direction or infrastructure developments like instant payments and digital euros, this event offers insights that won't be available publicly for months afterward.

4. Balkan Ecommerce Summit

April 29-30, 2025 | Sofia, Bulgaria

Arena Sofia

Main Language: English | Expected Attendees: 600

The emerging markets of Southeast Europe offer significant opportunities for fintech expansion. This summit focuses on e-commerce payments and digital finance in growing markets.

Why You Should Attend This Conference

Southeast Europe represents one of the few remaining high-growth, low-competition markets for payment solutions. Local payment preferences are still forming, giving early entrants significant competitive advantages. The Balkan region's rapid e-commerce growth, combined with limited local fintech infrastructure, creates genuine partnership opportunities for companies willing to invest in relationship building rather than just market research.

5. FinTech Week London

October 6-10, 2025 | London, UK

Multiple venues across London

Main Language: English | Expected Attendees: 3,000

London's premier fintech gathering spans an entire week with multiple connected events, from startup showcases to regulatory forums.

The heart of European fintech innovation converges here.

Why You Should Attend This Conference

London remains Europe's fintech capital, and this week-long format allows for deeper relationship building than single-day conferences. The distributed venue approach means smaller, more focused conversations with UK market leaders. Post-Brexit regulations are creating new opportunities for fintech companies that understand the changing landscape, and this event provides direct access to the regulators and executives shaping those changes.

6. Sibos

September 29 - October 2, 2025 | Frankfurt, Germany
Messe Frankfurt

Main Language: English | Expected Attendees: 8,000

The world's premier financial services event brings together central bankers, commercial bankers, and fintech leaders to discuss the future of financial infrastructure and services.

Why You Should Attend This Conference

Sibos is where global financial infrastructure decisions are made. Central bank governors, SWIFT executives, and heads of payment operations from the world's largest banks gather to establish standards that will govern international payments for years to come. If your business model depends on interbank relationships, correspondent banking, or cross-border payments, Sibos provides access to decision-makers who literally control the global financial system's plumbing.

7. NRF Retail's Big Show Europe

June 11-13, 2025 | Barcelona, Spain

Fira Barcelona Gran Via

Main Language: English | Expected Attendees: 2,500

The European edition of retail's premier global event showcases the latest in retail technology, including payment innovations, POS systems, and customer experience technologies.

Why You Should Attend This Conference

NRF Europe concentrates the retail industry's technology buyers in one location. Unlike broader fintech events where you compete for attention with dozens of payment companies, here you'll meet retailers actively seeking payment solutions. The European retail market's unique regulatory requirements and consumer preferences create opportunities for companies that understand local nuances, and this event provides direct access to the procurement teams making technology decisions.
